

Farmers Must Grow Less Wheat, Declares Senator Capper

DIVERSIFIED PRODUCTION BIG NEED, CLAIMED

Leader of Farm Bloc, in Exclusive Statement, Gives His Views

Farmers of the great western belt must grow less wheat and more of the products for which the markets of the world are willing to pay higher prices, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, leader of the senate farm bloc, warns in an article written exclusively for The International News Service. Senator Capper characterized the present low price of wheat and the consequent loss to farmers "one of the most savage and brutal economic debacles which the agriculture of the Middle West has ever encountered."

By SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER

A NATIONAL commodity wheat marketing association owned by the growers may be one result of the present low prices for the grain bread crop. The movement of men from the farms to the cities, which is perhaps three times above normal this year, also probably will increase. The folks who remain in the open fields will go into diversified farming to a greater degree. These are the more evident fundamental changes which are coming. And there are many more.

The cost of growing the wheat crop of 1922 in Kansas was $1.36 a bushel. It is likely that it is fully as high this year, and it may be more, if we consider the large acreage, the millions of acres abandoned, and the small yield. If it cost that figure this year, it is easy to see that if the wheat is sold at present prices, of 70 to 80 cents a bushel, with a yield of less than 100,000,000 bushels in Kansas, we have lost $50,000,000 or more on the crop.

Some to Hold Wheat

It is, indeed, one of the most savage and brutal economic debacles which the agriculture of the Middle West has ever encountered. Most of the farmers who can afford to do so, will, of course, hold their wheat for the recovery of market prices, which will come later. Producers who are already in co-operative associations will be able to benefit in a wheat-holding campaign from the offices of the organization, being able to borrow money through the power of co-operative efforts.

Others will be able to secure enough money locally from the securities which their wheat affords.

E. F. Heisser Says Cities Prosperous But Farmers In Critical State

By H. THOMPSON RICH

WITH prospects of bumper crops of wheat and corn, farmers in the Mississippi valley are facing a critical condition, owing to the low price of wheat, states E. F. Heisser, secretary and general manager of the Independent Lumber Company, 522 North San Fernando road, upon his return from a two weeks' trip through Minnesota and North Dakota. Mr. Heisser left Glendale Friday, June 22, for a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Heisser, of Minneapolis, Minn., returning to this city Sunday, July 8. He states that arrangements have been concluded to bring them out here in the fall.

Lumber interests in Fargo and other points of North Dakota also consumed a portion of Mr. Heisser's time on his visit. As the result of a motor trip through that state and through northern Minnesota, he has come to the conclusion that farmers in the small towns and villages are hard hit, owing to the fact that wheat is selling for below $1 a bushel, on the Chicago exchange, for the first time since 1915.

Cities Prosperous

The cities are without exception prosperous and a great deal of building is going on, he reports; but in the back country construction is at a standstill and lumber yard stocks are greatly depleted. Should the bumper crops materialize and prices rise sufficiently for the farmers to undertake any considerable building program, large purchases of lumber would have to be made from the mills to bring up the depleted stocks.

That such a program will be undertaken is, however, in Mr. Heisser's opinion, extremely unlikely. Farmers as a rule have borrowed heavily from the banks to increase production facilities, and the best that even a big harvest would do would be to get them straightened out.

Flock to Cities

Knowledge of this situation is creating a gloomy situation in the outlying districts, he says, and causing a decided migration to the population centers, where prosperity rules. And everywhere, in villages, towns and cities, the desire to pack up and move is being expressed.

Free Concert By Elks Band At School Tonight

THE final proof that summer is really here are the summer band concerts, anxiously anticipated by all Glendale residents, who join heartily in the pleasure of taking the whole family out for an evening's ride and to hear the band play.

C. M. Burke, band manager, has arranged with the city council for a series of weekly concerts during the next two or three months, and the band will play every Friday night on the school lawn.

Tonight the thirty-piece band will present a program of two hours' length, to include numbers of wide popularity.

ASK SOLUTION TO ALASKA PROBLEMS

Harding Has Hard Time to Find Way Out of Difficulties

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

FOR International News Service

ABOARD U. S. S. HENDERSON, WITH PRESIDENT HARDING IN ALASKA, July 13.—President Harding is not finding any real solution for Alaska's many problems.

The president came to the northern territory hopeful of finding an unified sentiment on the part of Alaskans themselves as to what is wanted in the way of remedial legislative and administrative relief at Washington, but the week spent in cruising throughout Southeastern Alaska, where the chief industries are located, has failed utterly to reveal any such unity of Alaskans.

Generally speaking these interests want lesser restrictions in their operations, but opposed to them are a considerable body of Alaskan public sentiment not in favor of giving big business too free a hand in exploiting the territory's unrivaled natural resources.

Opinions Differ

Apparently the only thing there in unanimity of sentiment is that Alaska needs developing of industry and capital should be attracted here, but how it is to be accomplished is a matter on which there is little agreement. President Harding's first week in Alaska put him in every town of any importance south of Seward, and he has seen and conversed with scores of persons interested in informing him about "what's wrong with Alaska." The first week has not resulted in the formulation of any definite policies, and the president has carefully refrained from promising anything specific. He has constantly emphasized in public speeches and in private conversation that he came 5,000 miles from Washington to study, listen and observe, and not to talk or promise.

British Note Expected to Leave Way Open for France to Enter

BULLETIN

PARIS, July 13.—Premier Poincare today positively refused to refer the reparations' settlement to the League of Nations.

BULLETIN

PARIS, July 13.—The United States government, through diplomatic channels, today informed France that it "is not connected with the present reparations' negotiations in London."

By DAVID M. CHURCH

FOR International News Service

LONDON, July 13.—General approval but a noticeable lack of enthusiasm marked the reaction today to Premier Stanley Baldwin's statement of the British reparations' policy.

Approval comes from the fact that England has at last made a move. The lack of enthusiasm is due to the uncertainty as to what the move now constitutes.

Dissatisfaction is expressed in two quarters. Lord Rothmere's papers express displeasure that the premier did not castigate Germany. The liberal press is displeased because it sees in the statement only the continued dragging out of negotiations with France.

Way Open for France

The note probably will accept in principle the German suggestion for a commission to inquire into Germany's economic condition and determine her capacity to pay.

The note also will suggest a revision of the guarantees submitted by Germany in her last reparations' note and will suggest an end of passive resistance.

This will make it possible for France to join the negotiations without loss of dignity.

Leslie Tarr Is Made Assistant City Attorney

ATTORNEY LESLIE TARR of 713 South Glendale avenue was appointed assistant city attorney last night by the City Council.

The appointment was made at the request of Attorney Ray L. Morrow of 328 Patterson avenue, city attorney. He stated later that the rapid growth of Glendale and the number of street jobs and condemnation suits under way made as much for the local legal department as in a city several times the size where the growth is slower. He added that he has found it necessary to put in much overtime work and that Mr. Tarr's connection with the city administration will make it possible for numerous proceedings to be expedited.

Mr. Tarr, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Tarr, is a recent graduate from the law school of the University of Southern California. He has lived in Glendale for about fifteen years.

STREET LIGHT SYSTEM IS ASKED AT COUNCIL

Different Sections of City Urge Action Be Taken For Illumination

THE installation of ornamental lights on Central avenue between Arden avenue and San Fernando road, on Broadway between Everett street and the eastern city limits, and on Glendale avenue between San Fernando and Verdugo roads was requested in three petitions received last night by the City Council.

Action was taken to commence the necessary proceedings. The subject of adopting a uniform standard for all new lighting systems was discussed briefly. Councilman C. E. Kimlin recommended a one-light standard for residential districts and a two light standard for business districts.

Peter Diederich, superintendent of maintenance for the public service department, admitted that uniformity is a matter of importance. He called attention to the fact that salesmen for competing standards are likely to be equally zealous. He was requested to make a formal report on the subject.

Presents Petitions

The Glendale Advancement Association presented two of the petitions. For Glendale avenue, it recommended a one-light standard of cast iron and pressed steel as manufactured by the Union Metal Manufacturing Company. A request that this type of standard should be adopted was included in the petition and signed by C. W. Ingels of 632 East Broadway and Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway, president and secretary of the Glendale Advancement Association.

S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard, acting chairman of the lighting committee of this organization, made the following report upon the installation of ornamental lights on East Broadway, recommending the installation of similar standards on those suggested for Glendale avenue.

"You will notice that we have the solid frontage owners signed up from Everett to Adams streets. From there on the frontage is well represented from an individual ownership standpoint with the exception of the non-resident owners whom we were unable to approach. Dr. Henry R. Harrower's name is not on the petition because of his absence. However, we are representing that his 180 foot residence frontage should be considered on the petition because he is chairman of our committee and took the initiative for the lighting of East Broadway. His laboratory frontage is signed up.

Cannot Pay, Says Board

"The high school board is unanimously for this improvement, but states it is financially unable to pay for the same in cash. Therefore, as a representative of the petitioners, we recommend that no lighting standards be installed on the High School frontage until such a time as its board is able to pay for same.

"The city school board also favors the lights and pleads lack of funds. As a precedent has been (Continued on page 4)

URGESPAVING ON CENTRAL AVENUE BE ORDERED

Improvement Association in Plea to City Council for Street Work

THE improvement of Central avenue both temporarily and permanently was requested last night of the City Council. Charles B. Guthrie of 110 West Broadway brought up the subject. He is president of the Central Avenue Improvement Association. A delegation from this civic organization was present also.

A petition for the paving of Central avenue between Broadway and San Fernando road, from curb to curb, with a three and a half inch bituminous base with an inch and a half Warrenite bitulithic surface was placed on file. It contained an additional request that the grade be changed, sidewalks and curbs repaired where necessary and water pipe, sewer pipe and service connections be placed in the street, where necessary, prior to the paving.

With City Engineer

After some discussion involving the possibility of getting all the necessary pipe lines installed before the paving, the petition was referred to City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy.

Temporary improvement of the sides of Central avenue was requested in the following communication:

The Central Avenue Improvement association, representing a large percentage of property owners on Central avenue, hereby petitions your honorable body to take immediate steps to temporarily improve the sides of Central avenue from Broadway to San Fernando road so that the entire width of the street may be used while waiting for the permanent improvement. This work to be paid for out of the funds of the city.

Called "Disgraceful"

Mr. Guthrie called attention to the fact that the sixteen-foot strip in the middle of the street which is now passable was laid by the county of Los Angeles. He expressed his opinion that property owners along this thoroughfare were entitled to much consideration inasmuch as their taxes have increased greatly within the past three years. He emphasized his belief that ultimately Central avenue will be needed to its full width to accommodate traffic which will be overcrowded on Brand boulevard. Mr. Guthrie asserted that the present condition of the street is "disgraceful." He added that its sides could easily be made usable by the use of a harrow and a roller.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin admitted that the subject was one of importance and recommended that it be investigated by City Manager W. H. Reeves and City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy at once.

Governor Richardson Meets Up With Old Man Jinx

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Old Man Jinx, his face wreathed in smiles at the results of his Friday, the 13th, activities, gazed aimlessly down at Southern California from his perch on a green-garbed cloud.

Suddenly he was all attention. The smile gave way to a broad grin—the kind of grin which the cat gives when the mouse pokes his head speculatively from a hole in the floor.

Friend W. Richardson was chugging along the Long Beach-Los Angeles road. "Ah, ha!" croaked Mister Jinx, making a few mystic passes with his hands.

Without further ado, the Richardson equipage stopped with a series of dry coughs indicative of an arid dry tank. Opposite the car, a modest sign gave forth the information "gasoline, one mile back."

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—How would you like to have pins, match heads, cigarette stubs, moth balls and buttons in your stomach? Nine-months-old Joseph Burke agrees it is bad enough to have them inside, but worse to have them removed on Friday, the 13th. However, they are out and Joseph's hard luck is being shared by Mrs. Pauline Bauder of Bethlehem, Pa., who is in jail charged with feeding the objects to Joseph while acting as his nurse.

The only good luck in the situation is that of the physicians at the Jefferson hospital here, who successfully unloaded Joseph's internal cargo.

5 NEW TEACHERS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Receive Appointments From Board; Hold Discussion Over Street Work

They are Miss Frances Ahl for history; Miss Marie McGrath for mathematics; Ruford Watt Blair for English; Miss Jennette Kussard for Spanish, and Miss Katherine Lewis for general science.

The meeting lasted until 11 o'clock and discussed various matters connected with school administration. No other action was taken.

Home From Trip
Mr. and Mrs. Delos Jones and daughters, Esther and Gladys, of 1050 Justin avenue, have just re-cently returned from a most en-joyable two weeks' camping trip. They went via the coast route, visiting relatives and friends at Ventura and Santa Barbara. They also visited at Monterey, enjoying the interesting places connected with the early history of California.

Stopping at Santa Cruz, they camped among the Big Trees and crossed the Santa Cruz mountains from Mt. Herman to San Jose. After visiting with Mr. Jones' mother, brother and sister in Oak-land and Berkeley, the return trip was made via the San Joaquin valley.

Hosts at Dinner

The marriage took place at the Cole home at 132 South Ken-wood street, and Whittier friends served as witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are to re-side at 347 West Acacia street, Glendale.

League Affair

The home of Rev. and Mrs. H. I. All members of the League and their friends are extended a cordial in-vitation to attend.

Elaborate plans are being car-ried out to make the affair suc-cessful. Cecil Percy, and his as-sistants, have had the entire gar-den wired for electric lighting for brilliant Japanese lanterns.

During the evening, games and contests will be enjoyed and a short program presented. Re-freshments will also be served by the members of the social committee.

Mountain Outing

One of the pleasures of an out-ing spent at a mountain camp is the pleasant acquaintances made in the informality of camp life. The families who spent the last week of June in the city, play grounds in the San Bernardino mountains found the association so pleasant that they propose to continue it and have planned a wiener bake at Santa Monica, Sat-urday night. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Flynn and son, Billie, and Mr. and Mrs. Helen Cummins, Horace Cummins, and their guest Miss Clara Flynn, of 331 El Bonito, will attend. About seventy of the campers have accepted and the various stunts, the mock wed-ding, and the wiener bakes will be rehearsed in song and story.

Bazaar Success

The luncheon and apron shower of the aid society of the Tropico Presbyterian church, in the social hall of the church, on Thursday was well attended and was a suc-cess both socially and in the ad-ditions to the bazaar which the society is planning to give later in the season. The society is planning a social affair for next Tuesday, announce-ment of which will be made later. Mrs. S. E. Brown, vice president of the society, Mrs. McNaughton Barnes and Mrs. H. M. COMMUNITY SWIM IS BIG SUCCESS

Wiener Roast and Bonfire

LA CRESCENTA

VEDANTA CENTER
HEAD TO RETURN

Noted Indian Swami to Hold Series of Services at La Crescenta

Swami Paramananda will return from Boston on Saturday, July 14. The Swami, who is from India, is head of the Vedanta Centre in Boston and has lately opened an extension of the Centre in La Crescenta. Returning with him are Mr. and Mrs. Dohel and Miss Eaton all of Boston. Mr. Dohel is a prominent business man of the Bay city, but has severed his connections there to reside in the Sierra Mountain retreat of the Vedantists. Miss Eaton is Mrs. Dohel's sister and for a few days they will, no doubt stay at the La Crescenta Hotel.

Persons interested in the Hindu philosophies and teachings will be glad to know Swami Paramananda will conduct a short service every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and that residents of the retreat are at home to friends every Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

For the benefit of those coming to the Centre by stage or car line, an automobile will meet the Glendale and Montrose car which reaches the end of the line at 3 p. m. and those coming on the Union stage line will be met at Pennsylvania and Michigan avenue at 3:15 p. m. Swami Paramananda expects to stay in La Crescenta for about two months before returning to Boston.

Will Enlarge School
The contract for building the two new class rooms in Crescenta school house was let to Cooper Bros. of La Canada. Their bid of $9158.00 being the lowest offered. The Williams Gas Radiator Co. was the lowest bidder in their line, on the installation of heating plant, the bid being $992.00, but owing to the uncertain gas situation this bid will not be acted on at present.

The date for the laying of Montrose school cornerstone will be Friday next, July 20 at 3 p. m. It is hoped such an impressive ceremony will receive the support of all in the valley as it is a milestone in the progress of this region.

La Crescentans will be sorry to learn so able a person as Mr. Babbage has resigned from the school board. However, another very capable man has been appointed in his place. C. J. Reinhard of Montrose. Mr. Reinhard is principal of the Vernon avenue school in Los Angeles and will no doubt fill his position on the local board to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Fans Razz Boxers
Danny Seaman and Billy Kennedy started off with a sparring exhibition, slowing up their punches, and with Kennedy giving a feeble imitation of a jumping jack until the fans sized them up, when the fighters were razed to a fare-you-well. At the end of the first round they were told that they could fight or walk home without a nickel, and they speeded up a little in the second, but not enough to make it look real. In the third Seaman lost a tooth, and that made him mad, so from then till the end of the bout the boys mixed it in earnest, the decision going to Seaman, who scored with a left jab at regular intervals.

Over 700 spectators witnessed the bouts, and the net proceeds paid into the band's treasury were $400. Following the bouts the members and guests were entertained with refreshments in the banquet hall of the clubhouse.

QUICK CLEARANCE

SALE ON SHOES

Buster Brown Store Will Offer Many Bargains in Finest Footwear

Buster Brown's first semi-annual clearance sale of fine footwear is announced by W. C. Winkler, proprietor of the Buster Brown Shoe store, 112 North Brand boulevard. The sale will start at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, July 14, and it is stated by Mr. Winkler that fifteen Buster Brown watches will be given away absolutely free to the first fifteen purchasers of footwear to the value of $5 or more.

"This is to be a quick clearance sale," Mr. Brown says. "Nothing in our stock is to be reserved. Everything goes on sale at greatly reduced prices. In actual values offered, this sale surpasses anything we have heretofore undertaken."

Big Price Reductions
"In addition to the Buster Brown models, many of the new Barbara Brown models will be on sale, together with oxford, city sports, dressy styles, dainty evening slippers, men's shoes of all sorts, including 1000 pairs of high-grade Burton Brown shoes."

"This is an extraordinary opportunity to secure summer footwear at the very best part of the season, at prices that cannot help winning friends to our already large list."

"All patrons attending this sale will receive the same careful, courteous attention, and the same expert fitting they ordinarily receive in this store."

In addition to big reductions on men's and women's shoes, big reductions are announced by the Buster Brown shoe store in children's shoes of all kinds, with hundreds of pairs from which to choose.

High Grade Work Is Shoe Shop's Asset

A new and modern shoe repair shop has been opened at 109 West Broadway, under the style of the H. B. Shoe Repair Works, with Harry Hunt as manager, and the establishment is basing its request for patronage on the high class of its workmanship and the excellent grade of materials used in renewing the shoes that are brought to it. A new departure in this class of shop is the fact that the work is called for and delivered. An extensive stock of accessories is carried in stock.

The bustard is Europe's largest bird.

FANS JAM LODGE TO WATCH BOUTS

Elks Boxing Card Brings Out Big Crowd to Witness Entertainment

Long before the time set for the first pair of scrappers to enter the ring at the Elks clubhouse last night every chair in the big auditorium was taken, and late comers were trying to jam their way into the hall and find some place where they could stand and get a view of the ring between the shoulders of the wise fan who had got there in time. With one exception, every bout on the bill was good, and the class of boxing shown was such as to keep the spectators on their toes during practically every round.

The curtain raiser was a three round bout between Snapper Brothers of San Luis Obispo, two little boys who appeared to be around twelve years old and who showed a style of milling that augurs well for their success in the squared circle when they add a few more years to those they already have. No provision had been made by the Jinks committee of the Elks for paying these kids, so the fans dug into their pockets and showered money into the ring in such quantity that the boys spent about ten minutes gathering it up after their bout.

Kelly Knocked Out
Roy Sutherland lost the decision to Sailor Joe Martinez at the end of four rounds of clean, fast fighting. The bout between Bob Kelly and Young Fredericks furnished the sensation of the evening when Kelly stopped a wild overhand swing with his jaw and went down for the count. Up till then Kelly had been giving the prettiest exhibition ever seen in a local ring, and predictions were freely made that he would stop Fredericks easily within the limit, and the finish of the bout struck the fans dumb. Ray L. Galvin, chairman of the Jinks committee responsible for the show, stated afterwards that Kelly was sick when he entered the ring and had gone on in spite of Galvin's protests. He will be matched for another bout here when he is right, and the fans are assured of witnessing the best bout ever staged in Glendale.

George Sirey and Young Sol kept Harry McCartney busy prying them apart in every round of their fight, which went to a draw, but the bout between Art Springer and Mike Lamar was filled with action every step of the way until Springer landed a bunch of consecutive wallops to Lamar's mid-section, shifting to the jaw and sending Lamar down for the count in the third, after putting him down previously in the same round.

Fans Razz Boxers
Danny Seaman and Billy Kennedy started off with a sparring exhibition, slowing up their punches, and with Kennedy giving a feeble imitation of a jumping jack until the fans sized them up, when the fighters were razed to a fare-you-well. At the end of the first round they were told that they could fight or walk home without a nickel, and they speeded up a little in the second, but not enough to make it look real. In the third Seaman lost a tooth, and that made him mad, so from then till the end of the bout the boys mixed it in earnest, the decision going to Seaman, who scored with a left jab at regular intervals.

Over 700 spectators witnessed the bouts, and the net proceeds paid into the band's treasury were $400. Following the bouts the members and guests were entertained with refreshments in the banquet hall of the clubhouse.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Washington conference treaties, scrapping the super-navies of the world and establishing a "rule of peace" in the Pacific, will be placed in formal effect with the exchange of ratification by the signatory powers at the state department, it was learned officially yesterday.

Formal notices of the ratifications by all signatory powers, except France, are now held in the Washington embassies, it was learned, awaiting arrival of the French copy of acceptance. When this document arrives, representatives of the signatory powers will meet to exchange the ratifications and the treaties will go into official effect.

The exchange of ratifications incidentally will kill the much-discussed Anglo-Japanese alliance.

SEEK CHANGE IN INDUSTRIAL AREA

Council Asked to Declare 5-Acre Tract District for Residences

Transfer of the north side of Doran street from Concord street to San Fernando road from an industrial district to a first-class residential district was the subject of considerable discussion last night before the City Council. W. E. Blizard of 720 West Doran street acted as spokesman for a delegation of interested property owners.

The industrial district now consists of five acres owned by Smith MacMullin of 412 West Wilson avenue, proprietor of the Glendale Creamery of 755 West Doran street, in the middle of the district. Its boundaries are the Wash on the north, Doran street on the south, Concord street on the east and San Fernando road on the west.

No objection was made to the existence of the dairy in this vicinity, but a request that Doran street from Concord street to San Fernando road should be changed into a first-class residential district.

Objection to this action was made by Mrs. Smith MacMullin, who stated that her husband has signed contracts already for the construction of four $5000 dwellings on the frontage in question.

Mr. Blizard said that he had never met Mr. MacMullin, and had no doubt as to his intention, but that it seemed like better business to have a written agreement covering the subject.

The possibility of these houses being removed later and the property used for industrial purposes was raised. Mrs. MacMullin reminded those present that $20,000 was not being invested for nothing. She added that should this property be increased in value for industrial purposes across the street would be correspondingly increased.

The City Council considered that no action was necessary.

Pipe laying jobs contemplated are as follows: Sierra avenue from Sycamore Canyon Road to Hill street; Merrill street from Holly Drive to Sierra avenue; Hill street from Holly Drive to Sierra avenue; Park street from San Fernando Road to Brand boulevard; Acacia avenue from Columbus avenue to Central avenue; Florence and Virginia Places, full lengths.

Announcement was made this morning at the city engineer's office that time for protest would be after July 26.

A gathering of more than one hundred Odd Fellows last night in the I. O. O. F. hall on West Broadway witnessed the installation of officers for the coming six months for Glendale lodge, No. 338, and participated in a fine banquet and enjoyable informal social time. The installation, which took place at the time of the lodge meeting, was in charge of District Deputy Grand Master G. H. Fuller, District Deputy Grand Marshal Harry Jayne and their staff from Lancaster.

Officers assuming duties for the next six months are: Daniel Hall, noble grand; H. T. Stevens, vice grand; A. J. Easterly, recording secretary; Frank Stanley, financial secretary; Charles M. Pease, treasurer, all elective officers. The appointive officers are M. E. Brown, right supporter of the noble grand; Lee Murdock, left supporter of the noble grand; Howard Stanley, warden; Charles Stanley, conductor; Ernest Riel, chaplain; Nels Johnson, inside guardian; George McBride, outside guardian; Ray Walcott, right scene supporter; Mr. Ertle, left scene supporter; Clarence Mahaffey, right supporter of the vice grand; W. W. Stoner, left supporter of the vice grand.

Gift of Gold Watch

One of the features of the meeting was the presentation by Carl W. Schwitters to Dr. H. S. Smith, district deputy grand master, of a solid gold Hamilton watch, with chain and locket. The locket, for lodge credentials, has the I. O. O. F. insignia on the outside, and on the inside that of the Elks lodge, to which Dr. Smith also belongs. In presenting the gift Mr. Schwitters spoke most appreciatively of the loyal services of Dr. Smith and of the high esteem in which he is held by the lodge members.

The banquet table and serving were in charge of Mrs. Rozella Strother, district deputy president of the Rebekahs, and her corps of officers, and they were justly praised for their work.

Decorating the tables were hydrangeas and dahlias, the dahlias forming the three links emblem and letters I. O. O. F. on the table of honor.

Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Senator Capper Says To Grow Less Wheat

fords to tide them over the immediate future. Certainly every bushel which can be kept off the market will aid in the recovery of prices just that much.

It is to be hoped that the growers will never again see such a serious market condition. But we cannot raise a huge surplus of wheat in America in competition with cheap foreign labor and get fair prices for it.

The acreage must be reduced. I think it will show that the drop this fall which the country has ever seen. Then if a great cooperative commodity marketing association is formed, the growers will at least have more protection from discouraging market conditions than they have now.

believe that some of the great fundamental changes will come, for this crop has been disappointing from an income standpoint for the last four years; the average farm price in Kansas was $1.86 in 1920—and it was produced at peak costs—96 cents in 1921, 90 cents in 1922 and 70 to 80 cents now, depending on the quality and location.

We must grow less wheat and more of the products for which the markets of the world are willing to pay higher prices.

Pool in Front of Bank Not From Rain

No, it didn't rain in Glendale last night. Nor did the water mains burst. That water you may have seen banked—yes, banked—in front of the Glendale State Bank today was "drift" water that came down the gutter from overflow on lawns and business houses. Sacks filled with dirt were placed to prevent the stream from flowing into the excavation for the six-story building at Brand and Broadway. The blockade retained the water—and there you have the mystery solved.

CHICAGO BANKER LAUDS GLENDALE

Economically Sound, Is Verdict of O. W. Bartlett After Close Inspection

"The investigations that I have made since I first heard of Glendale, and especially since I came here to make a personal inspection of the city and of the causes for its phenomenal growth and progress, have proved to me that Glendale is economically sound, and for that reason I am convinced that the brightest years are still ahead for Glendale," says Orton W. Bartlett, vice president of the Bank of the Republic of Chicago, who, with Mrs. Bartlett, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McCormack at their home here.

Mr. Bartlett has already made several heavy investments in Glendale real estate, some of which have already shown a profit, and it is his intention to keep in close touch with the local market and to take advantage of some of the sound investments that have been brought to his attention. He also declares that, because of his faith in Glendale's future, he will interest a number of his business connections in Chicago banking and commercial circles to invest in Glendale realty. Mr. Bartlett predicts that Glendale will attain a size of 75,000 population within the next five years, as the location of the city and its climate are assets possessed by few cities he has visited in the west.

As head of the bond department in the Bank of the Republic, Mr. Bartlett is accustomed to weighing sales values in commercial propositions, and the presence of the increasing number of industries here has led him to set the seal of his approval on Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McCormack at a dinner and reception at Casa Verdugo last night, other honored guests being Mrs. Blanche Davis and her son David, of Memphis, Tenn., who are at present stopping at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles.

INDIAN TREATED AS SERF, CHARGE

Fighting Squaw of Iroquois Compares Treatment of Natives With Czarism

For CHESTER B. BAHN By International News Service SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 12.—Russian serfs, in their most desperate days under the czars, would not have stood for the treatment American Indians have received from the United States government.

So declared Mrs. O. J. Kellogg of Green Bay, Wis., the "fighting squaw of the Iroquois," while here for a council of the Six Nations at the Onondaga reservation, where stands the Confederacy "long house."

"No people have been so systematically depleted by a government as they," she said, her black eyes flashing. Mrs. Kellogg is a full-blooded Onondaga, who has studied in four universities, traveled two years in Europe, written several books and lectured widely on Indian matters.

Education is the only remedy for Indian ills, she says, adding that it doesn't mean merely white man's education but the best of modern instruction and influence brought to the Indian through his own system of development—something white men never understood or recognized.

"He has a philosophy of life which no one has ever taken the trouble to study," she declared passionately. She added: "I am proud of the fact my education has come more from the old Indians. It calls for the institution of modern villages on reservations and a co-operative basis of control, such as Indians carried out before the tenor of their lives was disturbed by whites. It is modernizing and bringing up to date Indian customs and traditions."

Criticized Indians She criticized the Onondagas for their lack of enterprise, deploring so many still clinging to the old faith which hampers progress. She asserted the Onondagas have never made any claim to the land on which the city of Oneida is located.

Mrs. Kellogg has won her place in the Who's Who of America through her untiring efforts both as author and lecturer for her people. She was educated at Grafton Hall, Fond du Lac, Wis.; Stanford University, Baruch College, School of Philanthropy, Columbia, the University of Wisconsin and in Europe. She is known for her researches in Indian languages and is a member of the League of American Pen Women. Her best known works are: "The Lost Empire," "Our Democracy and the American Indian" and "Indian Reveries."

ASK COUNCIL FOR TRAFFIC GUIDES

Buttons and Marks Needed at Street Intersections, Guthrie Claims

The installation of traffic buttons at the intersection of Kenneth and Grand View and Glenwood and Grand View roads and the painting of suitable white markers on the paving was recommended by Charles B. Guthrie of 1641 Grand View road last night to the City Council.

Assistant Engineer D. V. Stone was complimented by Mr. Guthrie upon his work which will ultimately result in the rounding of a number of corners in the Grand View district. He called attention to the fact that two persons have been killed and eight persons injured at one of the intersections mentioned by him before the City Council as dangerous a few months ago. In reference to the intersection of Kenneth and Grand View roads he stated that a thirty-six-hour period did not pass without an accident. He recommended that action be taken before the streets become slippery on account of rains.

The subject was referred to City Manager W. H. Reeves for immediate investigation.

Kiwanis Directors to Stage Fishing Party

Isaac Walton, that famous angler of old, has an enthusiastic following in the board of directors of the Kiwanis club. When the regular meeting of the directors adjourned yesterday it was agreed that they should meet in regular session next Wednesday morning aboard ship at Santa Monica pier. Just what business will be transacted was not learned, but it is understood that fishing will be the principal occupation of the day. Incidentally there is some speculation as to who will make the record catch.

E. F. Heisser Tells Midwest Conditions

come to California is firmly implanted.

The one delusion a great many seem to have, in this respect, Mr. Heisser reports, is that California is "a rich man's country" and that it is necessary to be in a position to retire before undertaking the adventure. They want to know what a man can do out here to make a living. That is the question heard wherever California is mentioned, he says, easterners and middle-westerners still being under the impression that this country is the playground of the rich, rather than the land of opportunity for the masses.

"When I told him that the Pacific Southwest is humming with industries and that the port of Los Angeles has 100 different shipping lines in operation and is running New York a close second in gross tonnage handled, they opened their eyes," says Mr. Heisser.

Become Amazed "And when I spoke of the remarkable growth of our southern California cities such as Glendale, they were amazed. The proportion of easterners and middle-westerners who will migrate to California in the next few years will be governed largely by a campaign of information that will have to be inaugurated to furnish them the facts."

Mr. Heisser states that he ran into extremely hot weather on his eastern trip and was happy, indeed, to be back in Glendale, "where we have a climate so delightful that we have to leave it for a while to appreciate it."

Conditions at the Independent Lumber company's local yard were very good, Mr. Heisser found on his return. And at the mills in Aberdeen, Wash., night and day shifts are unable to keep up with the orders, which are three months ahead of production. These and other conditions, he says, make it very unlikely that the lumber market will show any falling off in the near future.

ENGLAND NEEDS ANCIENT RELICS

Old Roman Cemetery Holds
Many Valuable Second
Century Clefts

OSPRINGE, Kent, England, July 13.—A miniature "Luxor" was discovered recently in this little village, which is about forty-five miles from London.

The excavator, William Whiting, well-known archaeologist, has revealed the site of an ancient Roman cemetery, a few hundred yards away from "Watling street", the first great highway constructed by the Romans in England. The place of fifty interments have been dug out.

More than one hundred pieces of ancient Roman pottery have been found, as well as some fine urns and a few small flasks. There has also been found a set of dice and counters exactly similar to those in use at the present time.

The bone-like counters comprise twelve white, four yellow, four black, a blue, a green and two bone—apparently used in some Roman "Ludo-like" game. With them is an ornamental dice cup, believed to be unique.

It is evident that not only men, but women and children were buried on this spot, for among the discoveries are hairpins, bronze pins and a set of 150 jet beads, twelve or more bracelets, brass perfume bottles and a bronze strap buckle, which might have been made today.

Many of the skeletons were found in amphors—huge jars about two feet to two feet six inches in diameter. Apparently they had been originally used for holding wine or oil, and many bear traces of lettering on the outside.

British 'Franconia' Put in Commission

LONDON, July 13.—Designed principally to take a share in the traffic of the North Atlantic between Liverpool and New York and for pleasure cruises in all parts of the world, the Franconia, the latest and most sumptuous addition to the Cunard fleet, has just been brought into commission.

Self contained bedrooms and private bathrooms are among the luxuries provided, while the facilities for physical exercise and recreation are exceptionally complete for a 20,000-ton liner.

PLANS TO TEACH FLIVVER FLYING

Frenchman Coming to Show
Light Motor and Small Plane Is Best

By HARRY R. FLORY
For International News Service

PARIS, July 13.—Georges Barbot, world's champion glider, and first aviator successfully to cross and recross the English channel in an airplane, is going to America.

With his 275-pound Dewoitine glider equipped with a fifteen-horsepower motor, Barbot plans to demonstrate to Americans just how cheap and successful the aerial transportation of the future is going to be.

Although a little hazy on the exact distance involved, Barbot declares he will glide by easy stages from New York to Chicago. "I have been engaged for a series of exhibition gliding and flying stunts," said Barbot. "I shall visit New York, Chicago, St. Louis, and probably Dayton, the center of American military aviation."

Barbot's plane is so perfectly balanced that with motor dead he can glide for a distance seventeen times as great as his altitude, at a speed not greater than three feet a second. Thus, with favorable wind currents, by steady flying to a height of about 600 feet, Barbot could glide entirely across the English Channel.

Up Only 6000 Feet
On his memorable flight on May 6, however, Barbot flew no higher than 6000 feet. His feeble little motor, the size of an ordinary motorcycle engine, raised him to that height in approximately thirty minutes.

His flight across the Channel was accomplished in one hour and twenty minutes, and the return flight, made after dark, in exactly forty-three minutes. The entire distance covered was about seventy miles, with the utilization of only two gallons of gasoline. Even a small-size sport model airplane would have used five times as much fuel for the same flight.

Not content with that record-breaking flight and glide, which won for him the 25,000-franc prize offered by the Paris newspaper Le Matin, Barbot the following day successfully flew from Calais to Paris, a distance of 160 miles, with two stops, in an actual flying time of slightly less than four hours. His maximum speed was forty-five miles an hour.

Used Little "Gas"
That flight required only four and one-half gallons of gasoline, worth $2 in France, and 15 cents' worth of oil. The cost per mile was thus less than 1 1/2 cents.

Barbot, the pilot, is only 29 years old. He took up flying when he was 18 and became a licensed pilot in 1912. During the war he served in escadrilles C-6 and C-22, and saw much active service at the front.

Since the war he has devoted himself entirely to flying. He took part in the first French gliding meet, held at Comberges, and later, at Biskra, glided successfully for eight hours and thirty-six minutes, breaking all gliding records.

Since the Biskra meet he has devoted himself to airplane flying, gliders equipped with small motors, with the success already recounted.

Three-horned lizards, found chiefly in the southwestern part of the United States, feed on flies and insects.

State Camp, Writes of Drill and 'Eats'

California National Guardsmen, who are now in camp at Salinas, are enjoying a real outing, according to Salvador Felix of 471 West Maple street, an employee of The Glendale Evening News. He is a member of Company M of the 3rd battalion.

"If every campment is like this, it would not be so bad," he writes. "We are just about seven miles from town and not very good transportation."

"Today we had a wonderful drill, or rather a review. This is something we all like. We made a wonderful showing. We were so good that we were complimented by Col. Walter P. Story."

"From the time we entrained Saturday we worked, and have worked ever since, until today when we went to machine-gun practice, of which we had about fifteen minutes' instruction, then competitions against each squad."

"The eats are as good as anybody in any branch of the army could expect."

"We could not compare this camp with Yosemite, although this country is hard to beat."

Herbert Lalley, also an employee of The Glendale Evening News, is with the guardsmen.

Protest Embargo on Canadian Pulp Export

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The state department is making "very earnest protestations" against imposition by the Canadian government of an embargo on shipments of wood pulp to this country, it was learned officially late yesterday. The embargo, authorized by the Canadian parliament and temporarily withheld by the governor-general, practically would ruin the American paper industry if put into effect.

CALL DISCUSSION OVER DOG LAWS

City Officials and Members
Of Canine Association
To Meet Tuesday

Municipal legislation affecting dumb animals is scheduled for discussion in the council chamber at the city hall, commencing at 7 p. m. next Tuesday, at a conference between the City Council and a committee from the Glendale Dog Protective association.

Arrangements for this "confab" were made at last night's session of the City Council.

Inquiry was made by Edwin F. Kulp, of 1234 Viola street, as to why the council was not represented at the conference which had been arranged for last Monday afternoon. He said that the meeting had been attended promptly by the committee from the Glendale Dog Protective association.

Various excuses were made and promises were made that the approaching meeting would be fully attended.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Kulp, of 1234 Viola street, other members of the committee interested are William Rogan, of 304 Lorraine street, and Harry A. McPherson, of 607 North Central avenue.

Those who do not care to bring basket dinners may obtain their dinner at the park, it is announced. Coffee will be served free to all who buy souvenir badges.

In the afternoon there will be a brief program but the main purpose of the picnic is to have an opportunity to meet old friends. All who ever lived in the Keystone state are urged to come and pass along the news to other Keystoneers.

Further information may be obtained by communicating with C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of State Societies, 901 South Main street, Los Angeles, telephone 10261.

Flying Rails Spread Death in Work Gang

DURANGO, Colo., July 13.—Two persons were killed and six injured in a wreck of a Denver & Rio Grande work train eight miles east of Durango yesterday. A gang of twenty-four men were unloading rails from a car, and when too many of them were taken off one side the car turned over. Those killed were hit by flying rails.

Enrollment Statistics For Local Grammar Schools Show Growth Of City

By ARTHUR SHERBORNE
Of The Evening News Staff

THE growth of Glendale is well illustrated by enrollment statistics for the local grammar school system. Although it is difficult for the board of education to enlarge school facilities rapidly enough to keep pace with the increase in attendance, points out Superintendent Richardson D. White, these figures form an indisputable record of which any community might be justly proud. They not only prove that Glendale's growth has been amazing but reveal also the fact that it is a city of homes.

During the past three terms the enrollment has increased sixty-six per cent. A month after school opened, in September, 1920, when all late-comers had been given an opportunity to enroll, the total enrollment, including the kindergarten, was 2426. The month before the term closed this year, before early-leavers had left school, the total enrollment, including the kindergarten, was 4035. The difference is 1609.

GROWTH FAIRLY REGULAR, ENROLLMENT FIGURES SHOW
That this growth has been fairly regular is shown by the following total enrollment figures: October 1920, 2426; June 1921, 2685; October 1921, 3142; June 1922, 3267; October 1922, 3876; June 1923, 4035.

The kindergarten enrollment during this period has been as follows: October 1920, 211; June 1921, 189; October 1921, 277; June 1922, 216; October 1922, 364; June 1923, 275. Mr. White called attention to the fact that the reason the kindergarten is larger at the commencement of the term than at its close is because the course is only half a year in duration and many of the little folks are taken out of kindergarten in the middle of the year to enter the primary grade. He added that others remained at home the second term rather than repeat the kindergarten work.

The grammar school enrollment during the same period has been as follows: October 1920, 2214; June 1921, 2498; October 1921, 2865; June 1922, 3051; October 1922, 3512; June 1923, 3760.

COMPLETE STATISTICAL TABLE IS GIVEN OUT
Owing to the construction of two new schools, the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school and the Grand View school, and the re-arrangement of the boundary lines for the other schools in order to accommodate changing populations, the enrollment figures for the separate schools do not show a continuous increase during this period. However, is notable:

Broadway, from 244 to 393.
Columbus, from 302 to 501.
Pacific, from 258 to 389.

The complete statistical table is as follows:

PRINTING PLANT WELL EQUIPPED

Glendale Evening News Well
Able to Fill All Orders
For Job Work

The Glendale Evening News job printing department is enjoying a large run of commercial work this summer, including everything from booklets to handbills and business cards. But especially noticeable is the increase in larger work such as circulars and souvenirs for real estate firms, requiring the use of a cylinder press.

For the information of the public The Glendale Evening News office boasts the most completely equipped job printing plant in the San Fernando valley, doing strictly quality work. The machinery used in printing, which is not equaled here, includes:

Mergenthaler linotypes, Ludlow typograph, Elrod rule caster and the very latest American Type Founders fonts of type in the composition work; three Gordon presses, one Miehle cylinder press for book printing, and a Duplex perfecting press on which two-page circulars are printed; a Cleveland folding machine, Seybold power cutter, Boston wire stitcher; perforator, punch and round cornering machines in the bindery department, also a Miller saw and a complete stereotyping department.

Complete in All Details
A special pressman is maintained by The Glendale Evening News office to handle embossing, color work and tinting while a service department of years' standing provides people with most approved forms for printing. Also thousands of illustrations and ornaments are at the command of a person in this office through its affiliation with a newspaper.

Engraving orders are handled by the job printing department, making it as complete service as is to be found in any Los Angeles shop. A visit to The Glendale Evening News office and an inspection of the printing equipment will reveal to the business man the facility with which work may be handled here in Glendale. And, when the work is completed, a Roe delivery truck takes it to the customer. The Glendale Evening News service is complete—from first to last.

Will Mobilize Three Air Fleets on Pacific

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Three naval air squadrons will be mobilized on the Pacific for war maneuvers this summer, it was announced at the navy department. A squadron of eighteen planes will be sent to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, twelve planes to Mare Island and another unit of twelve planes to Sand Point, Wash.

CITY PURCHASES TWO 'DEPOT LOTS'

Property at End of Cerritos
Avenue Is Purchased by Council Majority

The City Council last night bought and paid for two lots at the end of Cerritos street for $8,500—without reference to the location of the new $87,000 Southern Pacific station.

The matter was brought up at 11 p. m. in the form of a resolution which was introduced without discussion in the open meeting. This was as follows:

"Whereas, a written offer has been made by George G. Stewart and Mary M. Stewart to the council of the city of Glendale to sell to the city of Glendale lots 14 and 15, block 5, tract 910 in the city of Glendale, county of Los Angeles, state of California, excepting all buildings, trees and shrubs thereon, for the sum of $8500.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the council of the city of Glendale that the purchase of said above described lots for the sum of $8500 is hereby declared to be necessary and advisable for the benefit of the city of Glendale and said offer is hereby accepted."

How They Voted

Roll call by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie showed ayes from Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman Sam Davis, Councilman Asa Hall, Councilman W. A. Horn. Remarking that he was unfamiliar with the proceedings, Councilman C. E. Kimlin declined to vote. Mayor Robinson later changed his vote to negative.

A motion that the property funds be paid for out of the funds of the city treasury was then put to a vote. Roll call resulted the same as the previous motion.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Stewart of 1655 Gardena avenue, who were present at the session, immediately presented City Attorney Ray L. Morrow with a deed to the property and a properly executed certificate of title for each lot. These were accepted and it was understood that a warrant upon the city treasury would be honored today.

Boys! Here's Chance To Get Scooter Free

"Our Boys' Shop" is the trade name of a novel institution being established in Glendale for the younger generation by W. O. Richards. It will be located at 104 West Broadway, just around the corner from Burbank boulevard, right in the heart of the shopping district.

As a special inducement for all of the boys in Glendale to bring their mothers to the store on Saturday, a scooter will be given to each of the first 100 youngsters accompanied by the parents. Mr. Richards expects to cater to a community trade, including Burbank, Eagle Rock and other adjacent territory.

Planes leaving Paris and London at 6:30 p. m. are trying out a night service between these two cities.

Dentist Tells Progress Made By His Profession In Checkmating Disease

"ANYTHING from insomnia to insanity may result from bad teeth. So a clean mouth means a clean body and a clean mind," according to Dr. Richard H. Riethmuller, oral surgeon of Los Angeles, who yesterday addressed the Glendale Rotary Club. He was introduced by Dr. Fay G. Stone. Among the many interesting assertions made by the visitor, the most important was that 60 per cent of cancer, the incurable disease, originates in the mouth. The medical profession has appealed to the dentists to aid in the fight for community health. Dr. Riethmuller informed the Rotarians, and in turn he asked the support of the organization in establishing in the minds of the public the fact that dentistry today is the most exacting science.

"In the olden days the tooth puller went around the country with monkey and a grind organ, entertaining the children while he pulled their teeth. It has taken the Americans, especially those at Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, to make dentistry a leading profession," according to the speaker.

"Dentists have developed other and other methods of anaesthesia and nerve blocking which have made possible greater surgical progress," the doctor said, citing plastic surgery during the world war as one of the accomplishments of "nerve blocking" operations.

"In rural communities 95 per cent of the mouths are found to carry disease while in some sections of cities 99.9 per cent of the people have diseased oral cavities. Rotary clubs in many cities maintain school dental clinics," the speaker added.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music Club, was present and told of the work being accomplished by that organization in its juvenile, junior and artist sections, as well as the club itself which sponsors concerts during the year.

It was explained that 200 guarantors of 400 seats at $5 apiece are necessary to bring such artists as Cecil Fanning to Glendale this coming fall and winter. Mrs. Jones also revealed plans for a Temple of Music to house the concerts which she said will result from the efforts of the Music club. The concerts this coming season will be given in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium which seats 700 people, she stated, and members of the club and guarantors will have reservations at an exceptionally low cost while others will be admitted at accustomed prices. American artists will be featured, Mrs. Jones added.

Junior music club activities this coming year will include a study of the operas while the juveniles will take up folk songs. Appreciation of good music is being built in this way here, according to the parent club president. Incidentally, all surplus funds are spent each year for a worthy cause, the club starting with a clean slate on the season's activities.

Tells of Convention

Visitors were numerous at yesterday's luncheon, presided over by J. Herbert Smith in the absence of President George B. Karr. A letter of appreciation from Mrs. Edith Huntley was read. Harry Mason, president of the Los Angeles Rotary club, made a brief talk on the Kansas City International convention, stating that Glendale representatives let it be known from whence they came.

COUNTRY CLUB'S LIST IS GROWING

Oakmont Organization Is Steadily Increasing;
Links Improved

The Oakmont Country Club's membership is increasing quite satisfactorily, in the opinion of H. M. Parker, vice-president and general manager. He stated recently that there have been received over 300 applications for membership. He added that, as soon as the construction of the clubhouse is a little further along, a great many more applications are expected. He asserted that, although $12,000 has been expended already upon the improvement of the links, this investment does not make as pretentious a showing as the same amount of money invested in a portion of the clubhouse.

Glendallians who have joined the club lately are as follows: F. B. Nay, 315 North Central avenue; Dr. Edward Abbott, 512 West Wilson avenue; Dr. C. H. Gowan, 223 Arden avenue; Attorney E. U. Emery, 329 North Kenwood street; G. L. Knox, 1007 North Louise street; R. M. Brown, 416 North Kenwood street; George U. Moyse, 322 East Harvard street; A. R. Townsend, 807 North Brand boulevard, and M. B. Townman, 120 East Colorado street.

From Eagle Rock

Eagle Rock residents who have joined include the following: Mark T. Lee, 241 Palmer avenue; Dr. M. M. Null, 208 South Central avenue; R. W. Stephens, 441 East Hill street; Arthur E. Cresce, 5860 Pasadena avenue; Dr. C. H. Phinney, 131 North Fairmont avenue; Earle M. Daniels, 239 North Fairmont avenue; Harry S. Bourne, 105 South Central avenue; O. J. Root, 269 North Satsuma avenue; J. T. Bailey, 505 East Hill street; J. C. Clausen, 629 East Hill street; C. E. Spencer, 133 North Royal drive; C. W. Blumer, 208 North Castle avenue; Godfrey Edwards, 101 South Central avenue; Dr. Howard Haisch, 116 East Colorado street, and J. Hartley Taylor, 811 West Colorado street.

A series of radio telephone stations to link the Canary Islands in place of the present cable system is under consideration.

CLUB WOMEN END YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

Review of Work Presented
At Picnic: Committees for Next Term Named

At the picnic that closed the season's business activities for the Tujunga Women's club, announcement was made that an ice cream social will be held at the home of Mrs. E. L. Sweet, on Golondrina drive, on Thursday, July 25. Regular work of the club will not be resumed again until the second Thursday in October, but this social is to be followed by a series of similar affairs during the summer months.

About fifty ladies, and nearly as many men, were present at the annual picnic, which was combined with an experience meeting, held at the home of Mrs. James Mills, on San Ysidro street. The lunches were served on tables on the lawn, and the members present turned in the sum of $21.10 to the building fund. This money was earned in some way by the ladies, and an interesting feature of the day was the reporting of the different ways in which each lady earned her contribution. Other members who were not present have sums to be added to the fund. Mrs. A. C. Fenno was chairman of the committee in the campaign.

Appointment Committee
Mrs. Nelson E. Jones, the newly-elected president, announced the standing committees for the coming year. The members are anticipating a pleasant and prosperous year under the leadership of Mrs. Jones. The feature to be concentrated on this coming year will be the raising of funds for construction work on the clubhouse. The club already owns a lot on San Ysidro street, and hopes soon to have the building fund augmented to the point where a building may be erected.

Mrs. Clark and Miss Mary Reed of Burbank were recent visitors in Tujunga.

A party recently enjoyed a day at Lake Arrowhead, among them being Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Kimble and son, Mrs. J. A. Folkeith, Miss Ruth Folkeith, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robb and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Ellis.

J. R. Spencer, formerly of Sawtelle, has purchased property on George street and is building a home. Mr. Spencer is a Civil War Missouri volunteer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Denney, formerly of 455 Golondrina drive, have moved to Los Angeles to make their home.

Builds New Home
Tom Buck is building a home on McClelland street to replace the one he recently lost by fire.

The F. E. Bouin family have recently returned to Tujunga from Mojave, where they spent several months. They are living at 244 Frolock Court.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Culp, formerly of 132 North Pine street, have gone to Monterey Park to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Warnick of 233 North Stevens way recently entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. George Donovan and family of Los Angeles.

Mr. E. L. Laughlin of Los Angeles was a recent visitor in Tujunga. He contemplates entering some line of business there in the near future.

M. W. Pond and Edward O'Shannessy of Palm avenue are spending part of the summer in Fresno.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miller of Hughes street recently were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brockett of Lankershim.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood of Burbank were recent visitors with friends in Tujunga.

Dr. Ruth Wood Passes
Dr. Ruth M. Wood died at the age of 85 years on June 28 at the home of Dr. Hankins.

With her passing there ends the earthly career of a remarkable woman. Born in 1838, the daughter of a Methodist minister, she received an unusual intellectual endowment, while the changes and vicissitudes incident to the life in the home of a pioneer preacher laid the foundation for that sturdy character and versatility which were hers in a very marked degree.

Left a widow at an early age, she attended the Woman's Medical College of Philadelphia, a step which constituted in that day an act of courage and independence. In her medical career she achieved an enviable success both as a physician and surgeon in Lincoln, Neb., and Leavenworth, Kan. Following the entrance into the union of the Territory of Utah, Dr. Wood was sent by the United States government to take charge of the government home for Mormon women and children at Salt Lake City.

After her retirement from practice some twenty years ago she became a resident of Los Angeles and was then able to satisfy her taste for travel, making a tour of the world after the age of seventy and spending several years in Europe. She came to Tujunga about one year ago to be near her daughter, Mrs. Alice M. Seckler, who preceded her mother to the Great

LINES UP CLEVER BOYS FOR BOUTS

Boxing Card at Twin Pines Promises Plenty of Action for Fans

The card of bouts lined up for tonight's show at Twin Pines, Sunland, appears to be a creditable one for Louis Waite to make his debut as a boxing promoter with. With the co-operation of Bob Kelley he has secured the services of some good boys who are well matched. The fact that this little series of fistic debates arrives simultaneously with Friday, the 13th, looks like some of the leather pushing brethren are going to be sadly disappointed before the evening's festivities are over.

Bob Kelley steps out in the main event again, this time with Frisco Kid, a stranger in these parts. Kelley is a hospitable host and will soon introduce him right and left in the order named. The left is loaded with the new truth serum, and when one of Kelley's playmates becomes inoculated with it, he is forced to tell the truth. "I've had enough," Knockouts for Kelley at Twin Pines are getting to be habits that are growing on the ringworms to the extent that they expect it, and if the kid should get rough and slip one through on the button, there may be a raid on the box office on the grounds of a fake fight.

Still, they can't stay upright forever and the kid came all the way from San Francisco to stop Kelley's winning streak. They scale at 135 pounds.

Glendale Boys Fight
Walter Dodge, another favorite from Glendale, is matched with Sailor Mack in the semi-windup at 135 pounds. The Sailor hails from San Pedro and craves to show his inland brethren that salts are still tough.

Earl King of Glendale and Nate Dolkart of Covina are booked at 130 pounds.

The remaining two bouts, Kid Karr of Glendale vs. Young Joe Rivers of Los Angeles, 108 pounds—Kid Gonzales of Sunland vs. Kid Chili of Los Angeles at 110 pounds. Curtain raiser at 8:30.

On Wednesday, July 25, there will be another benefit dance at Twin Pines for the Tujunga Valley base ball club to secure the additional money necessary to purchase new uniforms for the players. The net receipts of the benefit program given recently were about $50.00, but this sum is not sufficient to purchase the suits.

Following this the Tujunga Valley ball club and Ptomaine Tommy's team from Los Angeles will put on a big supper at the pavilion after the game on Sunday afternoon, July 29. Ptomaine Tommy sent his club here last Sunday and has been listed for a return game on that date.

The Sunland Olive Cannery finished the season's run and closed down until next season. Many of the employees of the plant are taking deserved vacations.

GIVE CONTRACTOR TIME EXTENSION

Further Delay Necessary in Paving Work on
Gilbert Street

An extension of time in which to pave Gilbert street was granted Contractor W. J. Curran of Pasadena last night by the City Council.

"Owing to the delay in delivery of macadam rock in the past month," stated the communication read by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, "we will be unable to complete the contract on Gilbert street in time and hereby respectfully request an extension of sixty days on same. Rock conditions have just recently rearranged themselves and we feel in the very near future we will be able to get rock on all jobs and will push them to completion."

Inquiry as to why an extension of two months was necessary was answered by City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy, who stated that the work could not be completed and the assessments mailed out, as provided under contract, in less time.

INSTALLATION OF DOCTOR, DENTIST, OFFICERS HELD TO OPEN OFFICES

Glendale Institute Meets
Last Night; Receives
Visitors From L. A.

Installation of officers for the coming year for Glendale Institute, No. 87, Y. L. I., took place Thursday night at the Knights of Columbus auditorium, Miss Catherine Kelley of Los Angeles, district deputy, being master of ceremonies. TODAY—Leipzig's "Kaffe-Haus Felche"; Communist "Blood Baths."

TOMORROW—Pope's the Rage in London; Prime Minister Sets Fashion; "Ousemalds Spurn the Palace; by David M. Church, London correspondent.

By KARL L. ELISH
For International News Service

LEIPZIG, July 13. The "Kaffe-Haus Felche" is almost a glass house on the ground floor. Through its windows one sees Leipzig's gay young bloods and gay young things sipping five o'clock tea carelessly, chattering perhaps of those "interesting" Moscow Kamerny Theatre players one saw at the "Schauspielhaus" the night before. Anyhow, life is possibly dull, but not a struggle for existence.

There are 25,000 unemployed in Leipzig. Some of them naturally stray aimlessly about town. They halt, fascinated, in front of this pleasure palace and watch the doings of these fairy creatures behind a glass curtain. To leave a piece of tart unfinished? More gather. The police suggest that the uninvited audience "move on." The audience is reluctant, moves slowly. Then in some intangible fashion the audience and the police are fighting. Stones are hurled at the windows of the "Kaffe-Haus Felche." Shots are fired, blood is spilled.

Little scenes like these end up in casualties of five dead and more than 100 wounded.

It is two nights after the local "blood bath." The police have forbidden further gatherings either of the Communists or of the unemployed. But apparently no attention is paid to the restraining efforts of the police. For, if you walk behind the "Volks-Haus," which belongs to the Communists, you become one of 6000 listening to the fiery speeches of impassioned orators.

"Fleissner must go," yells an ill-shaven, sick, weak-looking young man of, say thirty years, from the platform. The crowd agrees.

Who is Fleissner? He is the "political president." But more, he is a "Socialist" chief of police! And it was he who ordered the police to fire in the recent blood bath. It is he who has "verbotten" further gatherings. Yet none of his police are within two blocks of this very apparent gathering, which is so enraged because of the recent shooting that anything might happen. Another "blood bath" for example. But, no, the meeting unanimously adopts a resolution demanding "food control" in Leipzig as it already is practised in Dresden, Bauen, Plauen, Kammnitz in short, in practically all of Saxony. The reason, according to the Communists, why "food control" is not operative in Leipzig is due to the opposition of the "right" Socialists. Fleissner is a "right" Socialist.

Moreover, the meeting demands the formation of Communist "hunderschaften" or proletarian hundreds to protect the workers against recurrences of blood baths. It appears that such "hunderschaften" have been organized all over Saxony, but not in Leipzig because of the "right" Socialists.

Why do the "right" Socialists oppose "food control" and "hunderschaften" in Leipzig? Because, say the Communists, they are members of the bourgeoisie coalition government.

The speaking over, the meeting sings the "Internationale." The police could hear the noise five blocks in any direction, but they keep out of the way. This crowd is in a dangerous mood. Even a policeman becomes wary of Communist gun practice, especially if he is to be the target.

It is a curious crowd. The young men wear practically to the waist fifty years' old, tasteless, less dressed in drab colors; long, full skirts and flimsy white blouses. The "haus-frauen," unable to wipe their faces clear of the kitchen look and the complacency of maternity even to make room for the revolutionary mission. The shabbily dressed unemployed men, without shoes, whose faces are a mixture of hopelessness and bitterness; and the speakers who have flexible faces and tongues which mirror the mood of this very stormy crowd. The end is not yet in Leipzig!

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

To mention the name of Fannie Hurst to nine people out of ten is to elicit the remark, "Oh, yes, she is the woman who only has breakfast with her husband once in five days." It seems to be human nature to remember people not so much for the enduring work they do day by day as by some original attitude toward conventions or an unusual and often thoughtless remark. Miss Hurst's views on matrimony seem to have put her literary achievements in the shade temporarily.

At a recent banquet in Cleveland, O., Miss Hurst spoke on the subject, "You Women." Her audience saw in her a woman of vivid personality. She was colorfully garbed in a gown of blue-green. She has quantities of black hair which she wears drawn back tightly to the back of her head, where it is wound in a great coil and a bright red comb was tucked in at the left side. Her eyes are dark and expressive and she has a trick when speaking of raising her level brows in a very attractive manner as if bringing the whole of her mentality to bear on the subject in hand. Her smile is charming and her whole personality impresses one as thoroughly alert and wholesome.

She said that the question of women pursuing a career was largely a question of the woman. That the fact of a woman being recognized as an economic unit in the home was comparatively new, but that there is no doubt that a woman equipped for a career was not so prone to indulge in a marriage of convenience. Also that a woman with such training was better trained for the duties that marriage brings. We must remember that much of the drudgery of housework was done away with by the modern inventions, simplifying the problems of the housewife, and added, "Try as I may I cannot canonize dish washing."

Miss Hurst is a native of St. Louis, a graduate of Washington university, and she also did post graduate work at Columbia. She has made special studies of the working girl and made a trip across the Atlantic in the steerage to get material first hand for a story. She is the author of "Gaslight Sonatas," "Humoresque," "Star Dust," etc. Some of her plays are "Land of the Free" and "Back Pay," and she is a frequent contributor to magazines. She lives in New York City.

CHILDREN LIVE ON CANAL BOATS

More than 350 children are living on canal boats in the United States. This interferes with the children's schooling, as the boating season on the canals ranges from seven to nine months in length.

"Ah," little man, exclaimed the kindly old man. "Going to school, eh? And it's the opening day, too! I'd give all I possess if I were going to school again."

"Huh," replied the tough youngster. "That's what pa said when I left the house this mornin', but he backed out when I called his bluff."—Birmingham Age Herald.

Before an army strikes camp, sanitary squads have removed all dangers from the camp sites. Civilians, on the other hand, prefer to gamble with mosquitoes and doubtful water.

Mrs. Frederick W. Bentley of Chicago has been appointed by President Harding the only woman member of the American battle monument commission. The other members are all men of prominence, including General Pershing and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania. The battle monument commission is to have charge of memorials to be erected to American soldiers on foreign battlefields.

Mrs. Bentley is the mother of the first Chicago man to lose his life on the battlefields of France.

WOMAN'S AGE? REAR FIGURES

These figures are compiled by an eastern sociologist:

Of the thousands upon thousands of sermons preached in this country, not more than 170 are not more than 170.

Of the pleas made in all the courts in the United States only one in every 130 is made by a woman.

Of all the newspaper editorials not more than one in thirty is written by a woman.

It is estimated that ninety-five per cent of the successful inventions and of "opinion making ideas" still emanate from masculine minds.

So, according to Mrs. Gilman, the well-known educator, we continue to live in a man-made world.

On the other hand, ninety per cent of the education of our children is in feminine care and in the whole country 11,000,000 women are earning their living independent of masculine support.

Man still appears to be the chief factor in molding public sentiment. Perhaps, however, this is but another case where the hands are the hands of Esau, but the voice is the voice of Jacob.

CHINESE PRINCESS "BOOT-LEGGED" SILKWORMS

Almost 2000 years before Christ a Chinese empress was fostering the cultivation of silk, but the origin of silk culture probably dates to much earlier time, says the Mentor Magazine. Ancient China inflicted the death penalty upon persons caught smuggling silk worms or mulberry trees from the kingdom. Consequently, Japan did not receive silk worms until the third century A. D. A Chinese princess, who married an Indian prince, is said to have concealed silk worms and mulberry seeds in her headress, and thus established the industry in India and Asia.

Two Nestorian monks, who had just returned to Byzantium from China, told the Emperor Justinian of silk culture. He sent them back for eggs and mulberry seeds, which they brought in their hollow bamboo staffs. Thus was silk culture established in Greece and Asia Minor.

A college debate was going on, and of course they had the pitchers of water and glasses on each table, and the visiting debate squad kept drinking water all the time, while the home squad did not take a drink. It so happened that the visiting team won by an overwhelming majority. After the debate, the losing coach came up and congratulated the winning coach, and remarked: "That's the first time I ever knew it took water to run a windmill."—Judge.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

"Would you like to come for a walk with me, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily one morning as he finished breakfast in his hollow stump bungalow. He ate some pickled rose leaves with clover buns and a cup of carrot coffee.

"Do you think you will have any adventures?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Well, I nearly always have adventures," laughed the bunny rabbit. "Though, if one happens this morning, it may not be to your liking."

"Oh, as the saying goes, I'll take a chance," answered Nurse Jane, and she, too, laughed.

Then Uncle Wiggily and Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy set out together over the fields and through the woods. They had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, there was a rustling in the dried leaves on the ground, and out crawled a big black beetle.

"Oh, a tramp bug!" cried Nurse Jane, drawing away her skirts, as she saw the ragged wings and crooked legs of the black insect. "A horrid tramp bug!"

"Excuse me, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy," a Gentleman Bug, at your service," asked Uncle Wiggily, who always spoke politely, whether from his head or a ragged cap and made a bow to the muskrat lady.

"I am a Gentleman Bug, though I do look ragged and like a tramp," he buzzed. "But it isn't my fault that I am poor. I have been trying to get work, but—"

"What can you do, my dear sir?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who always spoke politely, whether from his head or a ragged cap and made a bow to the muskrat lady.

"I am said to be very clever at buzzing around and picking up pins off the floor," said the Gentleman Bug. "In fact, when I was rich and had plenty of money I used to do nothing but pick up pins off the floor. My wife seemed to be always having new dresses made and you never saw so many pins as fell on the floor! I picked them up, never thinking I would some day be poor. But now, alas, I am, and I look like a tramp. But I am a Gentleman Bug."

"Where is your wife and her new dresses?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Alas, she flew away and I have never seen her since—nor the new dresses, either," sighed the black beetle.

"Are you still good at picking up pins?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, far be it from me to boast," buzzed the Gentleman Bug, "but I think I can still pick up pins."

"Then Nurse Jane can give you work," said the rabbit uncle. "She is going to have a lot of new dresses made and you shall come to my hollow stump bungalow and pick up fallen pins; can't he, Janie?"

"Why, of course," answered the muskrat lady. "It will be a pleasure to have him, and knowing now that the beetle was no tramp, but a Gentleman Bug, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy was no longer afraid."

Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane thing I don't like about dressmaking is picking up the pins. I think the Gentleman Bug will be very useful. And he was, for about forty-seven million pins were dropped.

But the Gentleman Bug picked up every one and put them on a little tray. "And once, when the Fuzzy Wuzzy Fox thrust his nose into the bungalow looking for something to bite, the Gentleman Bug, very politely, tickled the Fox on the end of his nose with a tray full of pins and said:

"Nibble these!"

"Wow!" howled the Fox, and away he ran.

"It is very stylish to have a Gentleman Bug picker up pins," squeaked the mouse dressmaker to Nurse Jane.

"It is very good for my ears, at any rate!" chuckled the bunny rabbit. "And if the stick of peppermint candy doesn't try to turn into a gum drop and fall on the head of lettuce, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the sparrow."

MARCHING LEGION

Rolling across the prairies in Fords and other automobiles, members of the Kansas division of the American Legion plan to hold an automobile caravan to their national convention in San Francisco next October. Legionnaires who do not own cars will combine resources and buy an expensive automobile that can be sold at a small sacrifice when the party returns from the convention.

From far-away Barcelona, Spain, comes a request from a mother that her two children be permitted to participate in the American Legion's national essay contest on the subject, "Why America Should Prohibit Immigration for Five Years." The father, a missionary in China, was one of the first victims of the unrestricted submarine warfare, being killed near Malta when the French ship Athos was torpedoed.

Veterans of the World War have invaded the ranks of Kansas City police until now they form 60 per cent of the force. The peak of the invasion was reached recently when Ingraham D. Hook, a prominent member of the American Legion, was appointed police commissioner.

Hook served twenty-five months during the war. He attended the first officers' training camp, where he was commissioned captain, and then served as assistant senior instructor and senior instructor at Camp Funston, Kansas. Captain Hook fought with the 89th division in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives and was in the army of occupation.

As chairman of the railroad transportation committee for the convention in Kansas City, Captain Hook was largely responsible for obtaining the grant of a 1-cent-a-mile rate from the railroads. He was first commander of the William J. Blaud post of the American Legion in Kansas City.

Richard F. Synnott of Chicago, former private who received the first check for the Illinois state bonus to World War fighters, will devote the $300 he obtained to paying for his home. The holder of claim No. 2 is Mrs. Ellen O'Keefe, also of Chicago. Mrs. O'Keefe will receive $167 as the state's gift of thanks for the services of her son, Andrew O'Keefe, who died four weeks after his discharge.

Many reports have been received at national headquarters of the American Legion in Indianapolis from officers of posts in small towns, complaining that their members are moving to the cities. Lemuel Bolles, legion national adjutant, has stated that the legion will endeavor to stop the drift to the larger centers of population by advocating land settlement and farm aid legislation in the interests of World War fighters.

SCHOOL BOARD IS REQUIRED TO PAY

Assessment for Protection From Fire Is Considered To Be Necessary

The Board of Education is required by municipal ordinance to pay $144 per year into the city treasury for the privilege of protecting grammar schools and children from danger of fire. This condition was approved last night by the City Council.

A communication from D. J. Hibben of 123 East Laurel street and Mrs. Nettie Brown of 201 Millford street, president and secretary of the Board of Education was as follows:

"In accordance with the details of a recent city ordinance the Board of Education has been assessed $1 per month per school for their fire lines. The water from these lines is never used except in an emergency and is there solely for the protection of public property.

"The school district, of course, pays its bills regularly for water and electricity actually used and we are raising no question in connection with the regular bills. We are, however, requesting your honorable body to give serious consideration to the question of the justice and fairness of charging against the school's funds this small charge which will amount to about $144 per year for water which is not used except in emergency.

No Action Is Taken

"We are not questioning the justice of the ordinance in general but are asking that you consider the question as to whether or not public buildings should be differently classified than privately owned property and exempted from this fire line charge.

"Any consideration you may give us in this matter we assure you will be greatly appreciated."

Councilman Sam Davis made a motion seconded by Councilman W. A. Horn that no action be taken. Councilman C. E. Kimlin refused to vote on the grounds that he was unfamiliar with the circumstances.

MRS. PHILLIPS, 86, TELLS OLD DAYS

Takes Active Interest in Present; Does Her Bit in World War

In Clinton, Mrs. Phillips went to Omaha, Neb., for several years, and then returned to Illinois for a time. She has made her home in Glendale for the past six years.

At an early age she became a member of the Methodist church and several years ago she joined the Presbyterian church because there was no Methodist church near her home. She has continued her activity in the Presbyterian denomination and is one of the oldest members of the Glendale Presbyterian congregation.

"Grandma" is a wonderful old lady, always active with her needle and always a brilliant and interesting conversationalist. During the World War she expressed her patriotism by knitting countless socks for the "boys over there," and speaks regretfully of not being able to continue this activity in times of peace.

One of the prized possessions of the McDill family is a wonderfully and beautifully made quilt, which "Grandma" made last year for Miss Mary E. McDill. It is made of fine white and orange sateen with star design. The star figures are perfect in shape and placement, and the even and symmetrical quilting required twenty-five days' work.

Glendale possesses many interesting old folks, and it is the aim of The Glendale Evening News to record all of them in its columns and list them as members of the Sunset Club.

Since the first of the year the club has lost five charter members. When the club was organized the membership was limited to all old people past 90 years of age, but the age limit has been set back to 85 years of age.

The old people should be honored residents of the city of Glendale, and The Glendale Evening News is asking the co-operation of its readers and friends in securing the names of all Glendaleans past 85 years of age. If you know of any, phone Virginia Kay, Glendale 132.

THANKS SCOUTS FOR GOOD WORK

Forest Supervisor Writes of His Appreciation in Fighting Flames

Boy Scouts of Glendale have received a letter of commendation from R. H. Charleton, forest supervisor of the Angeles forest, for their efficient work in helping to put out a forest fire near their camp on June 25. The fire started, in all probability, from a lighted cigarette thrown carelessly from a passing automobile, and it was no time until it was burning fiercely up the mountain slope. Luckily the Scouts discovered the fire soon after it started, and for two hours they fought it side by side with the rangers. No one had any tools except the scouts, and their quick work saved a great area from being burned over. For two nights after the fire was under control the scouts patrolled the fire line, rendering every assistance. Following is the letter received by Scout Executive Harold

Chautauqua Visitors to See Hiawatha at Pacific Palisades Show

The Cadman trio, which consists of Constance Balfour, soprano; Mrs. William R. Darrett, dramatic reader, and Alma Geiger Phelps, pianist, will give the melodrama of "Hiawatha" at the Pacific Palisades Chautauqua, on July 18. This is their second engagement of the Chautauqua assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harris Phelps have just returned from a ten days' motor trip to Yosemite National park, in order that Mrs. Phelps may fill her engagement on the 18th. Mrs. Phelps, before her recent marriage, was Alma Geiger, a well-known Glendale music teacher and pianist.

Benner from Mr. Charleton: "Dear Mr. Benner:—Ranger Switzer has just advised us of the good work done by the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills Council at a recent fire in Hook creek, and I wish you would express to the boys our sincerest appreciation of their work. It was mighty good of them to pitch in and help us out. Very truly yours, "R. H. CHARLETON, "Forest Supervisor."

A Serpent Started It

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

In college Helen Randall had won more honors as an athlete than as a student. As an accompaniment to her strength, she assumed a bravery which had never been put to the test and became scornfully intolerant of those who were weak or timid. Now, on the ranch where he was visiting her, she could not quite place Forbes.

They sat on some rocks on the top of a low but steep hill and looked over the fields of grain almost ready for the harvest. In the hush of approaching dusk they were silent.

"He looks so pale beside the men of the country and his hands are like a woman's," Helen appraised her companion. "I wonder if he is a coward?" A wriggling form, like a piece of rope, slid into a crevice and gave her a plan.

"What would you do," the girl asked, "if you were to see a rattlesnake, right here?"

Forbes shuddered. Worse than anything else, he hated snakes. "I'd take you by the hand and beat it," he answered truthfully. "I never stop to argue with a snake."

"And I think," Helen said with cruel deliberation, "that anyone who runs from danger is a coward."

For a moment she did not dare look him in the face. When she did he was smiling easily with a queer and almost relieved expression.

"Did I tell you," he rose slowly, "I will be going in the morning? It has been a wonderful visit and experience." He looked toward the house and waited. Helen, sobered at the realization of the end of their friendship, pretended polite surprise at the announcement.

She moved to rise, then brought her hand to her lips and screamed.

"A snake!" Her eyes round with fright. "He stung me, a rattler!" All the bravery of which she had boasted was gone. The girl wept, looked here and there, frantically, for assistance, and was on the verge of hysterics.

"Now you keep still," Forbes had her by the wrists, was shaking her into submission. "It won't do to get excited or lose your nerve."

At the base of her thumb he found the crescent-shaped mark of the rattler. He pulled off his necktie, which he doubled and wrapped around the wrist.

He stooped for a stick, wrapped the ends of the tie around it and twisted. The girl winced through her tears. She was trembling now and pitiful.

"Look the other way if you can, and do your best to hear it."

For the man this was a ghastly and terrible task, for he had to cut the tender flesh around the bite and let the blood flow freely. The hand was blue-black now. He loosened the tie a little, let more blood in, tightened the knot and squeezed out the new supply of blood. Over and over he repeated

"Do you think," said Forbes, "your father and mother would care if I stayed another day or two? Is there something I wanted to ask you?"

She drew his hand against her cheek.

"Please stay!"

To Can Blackberries or Blueberries By the Cold Pack Method

Wash the berries and put them into hot, sterilized glass jars, then pour over them a hot, medium-thin sirup made by boiling three quarts of sugar and two quarts of water together for five minutes. Partially seal the jars (that is, put on top wire up but do not press down side wire) and process the jar in your washboiler canner for sixteen minutes in boiling water which rises almost to top of jar. Remove from canner, completely seal, cool out of a draught and store after inverting to test for leaks.

Blackberry Jelly—Wash and mash freshly picked blackberries and put them into an agateware or enamelware kettle; cook slowly, adding no water, until they are tender, then turn them into a jelly bag and let drip till no more juice comes. Quarter two quarts of apples, not removing seeds, and stew these in the preserving kettle with only just enough water to keep from sticking to the bottom; when tender, drain and measure the juice. To every cupful of blackberry juice add one cup of the strained apple juice and bring to the boiling point; add an equal quantity of granulated sugar and boil until two drops will form a put on a spoon when a little of the juice is held high in the air

ACCENTS SMARTNESS OF ORGANDY

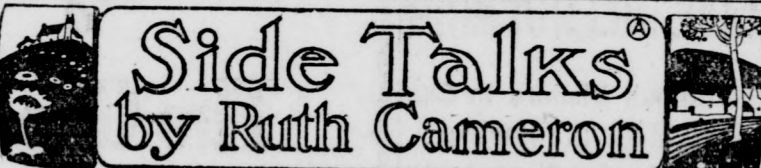

Of all the pretty materials which the season boasts, organdy in figured and plain effects was selected for this unusually charming frock. The broad band centered on the skirt may be over-stitched or inserted. The vest, collar and cuffs of organdy are hemstitched. The crepes are also suitable for this design, medium size and requiring 3 1/2 yards 36-inch figured and 3/4 yard plain material.

PANELS TAKE ONE-SIDED STAND

"Go it alone" seems to be the newest slogan of the panel, for it prefers to drape only one side of a frock to give it individuality. This model typical of Parisian simplicity may be carried out in volles, crepe, radium or satin. The dress is trimmed with pipings of Self-material and has a choice of two different styles of sleeves. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

"AND I SAID TO HIM—" Heaven preserve us from the person who cannot answer the simplest question or tell the simplest incident without making a narrative ten minutes long out of it!

I met a woman I know the other morning. I said, "Good morning, how are you this morning?"

She said, "Pretty well, thank you, except that I have just been to Dr. S. My eyes are bothering me."

"How did you like him?" I said (most unwisely).

"Ever Hear a Tale Like This?" And then she began with a long tale. First how she happened to go to Dr. S. She had been to her family doctor and she asked him whom he thought was the best man for eyes, and he and dripped back into the kettle. Turn at once into hot, sterilized glasses, let cool, then cover with melted paraffine.

Raspberry Jelly—This may be made the same way as the blackberry jelly, with an equal quantity of apple juice combined with the raspberry juice. Or currant juice may be used in place of the apple juice. If desired, commercial bottled pectin can be used with the raspberries to make jelly. (Follow directions which come with the bottled pectin.)

Gooseberry-Red Currant Jam—"Top and tail" three pounds of ripe red gooseberries and put them into a saucepan with one pound of stemmed red currants and three pounds of sugar; let stand five hours, then bring to the boiling point and boil for thirty minutes, stirring often. Turn into hot, sterilized glasses, cool, and cover with melted paraffine. This makes a delicious jam.

Answer to "A Reader" and "Mrs. A. G. M." Your letters reached me too late to allow me to publish a timely answer here. I am so sorry, but hope you will try again some time, giving me plenty of time to insert my answer.

Tomorrow—From Reader to Reader.

I got in that state where I felt I should scream if I heard "And I said to him" another time.

I didn't scream. We never do seem to. It is just one of those mischievous irresistible impulses that everyone feels and practically everyone resists. (I sometimes wonder if life wouldn't be simpler if we yielded to some of them.)

So we stood there fifteen minutes (in the blazing sun, by the way), before I heard how she liked Dr. S.

That is the way that woman talks. She never can tell you the gist of any matter. She has absolutely no sense of selection. Even if she has something interesting to tell, she imbeds it in so much that is trivial and tiresome that the interest is totally lost.

I think we all know people like that, perfectly good people—and perfectly fearful bores.

Another variety of the person without selective sense is the bore who insists on telling you the plot of a story or, worse still, of a motion picture.

The Bore's Commencement Of course one soon learns the protective habit of going on with one's own thoughts during such

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

Strangely enough the best of the old-fashioned remedies for curing corns have been forgotten. Do you, for instance, know the onion cure for a corn? This was used two or three years ago according to an old book I once picked up. The book itself was printed 150 years ago, and it spoke of the onion cure as having been in use for more than a century.

Boil until tender the strong outer skin of an onion, apply it fairly hot to the toe and bind it on with a strip of muslin. A fresh piece should be put on every night and morning. The corn will detach itself in two or three days, unless the same irritating cause remains; that is, if you wear the sort of shoes that first caused the corn, the corn will come back, otherwise the cure is permanent.

Here is an old-fashioned remedy for blisters, corns and all the callouses that bring such pain to the feet:

Pure mutton tallow, melted 1 1/2 ounces
Mugwort, freshly gathered and bruised 3 drams

I have also heard that binding a slice of lemon over the toe and letting it stay on all night will so soften a corn that it can be taken out without any trouble; in fact, a woman of my acquaintance tried this with success. An old-fashioned remedy, somewhat similar, is to soak a small piece of bread in vinegar, poultice the corn with this and leave on all night. In the morning the corn will be quite loose and can easily be removed.

Do you know, by the way, that if you rub the soles of your feet with a slice of lemon when you are very much fatigued you will get an instant, though temporary, refreshment. If you can soak the feet for ten minutes in hot strong salt water, then powder them and wear slippers for 20 minutes they will feel fresh for hours.

Brownie—The methods of getting rid of a double chin would depend upon its cause. If it comes from holding the head down—stretching the neck line, by throwing the head back as far as possible, and rolling it from side to side, will help. Rubbing the chin with ice for a few minutes daily will do a great deal toward giving you those smooth slender lines you desire.

Justie P. B.—Outstanding ears can be cured by a simple operation which your doctor can perform.

Have You Tried the Onion Cure?

form. You may also help yourself, and might be able to overcome this difficulty, if you bind the ears against the head with a bandage and wear it over night.

Tomorrow—Large Hands

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Human Mother's Milk
Why do we advise so strenuously that you nurse your babies, mothers, when the scientific findings of infants has been perfected so remarkably in recent years? For this reason:

No matter what advances can be made in artificial feeding, we probably never will be able to reach anywhere near the perfection that Nature reaches.

Nature perfects a milk for each species which is especially designed for the needs of that particular species. For instance, she plans cow's milk for the special development of the digestive apparatus and the rapid growth of the baby calf.

Cow's milk is much stronger than human milk, having more than twice the amount of protein and four times the amount of calcium salts. This is necessary because the calf reaches puberty in two years, which is only one-seventh of the time required for the human baby to reach puberty, and the calf's food must, therefore, be stronger in order to start this rapid growth.

The curds from cow's milk are tougher and harder to digest than human mother's milk because the baby calf's digestive apparatus must be trained to digest hay and other tough foods.

narratives, keeping all the time a pleased smile on one's face and saying, "Did you ever?" "Wasn't that interesting?" at the proper intervals.

Hypocritical? Perhaps. But what is a bore but a person who is so self-centered and selfish to consider whether what he says is interesting or not? And doesn't he pretty well get his comeuppance if his lack of interest in how we feel is met by our lack of interest in his narrative?

WILLARD GOES DOWN BEFORE YOUTH

Tired Old Man Takes Count And $180,000 In Hard Cash; Dempsey--Firpo Clash Next?

NEW YORK, July 13.—Dollar wheat is not bothering one Kansas farmer today. Jess Willard "made his hay while the stars shone" last night. Today he packed his things for his trip home to the Sunflower state and the life of a "country gentleman." Before 100,000 folk who packed Boyle's historic "thirty acres" "Big Jess" traded punches with Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine battler and took forty-three blows in 29 minutes and 50 seconds, giving his opponent thirty-nine licks in return.

Then the fight was over, Willard, a tired old man, sitting on the floor—$180,000 richer for the half hour's demonstration of the well known fact that "they can't come back." The end came in the eighth round following a succession of rights and lefts to the head which drove Willard to his knees at the ropes, while the referee counted 10.

"No Firpo for Dempsey—why, it would be slaughter," Jack Kearns said today, announcing that the champion's next opponent probably would be Harry Wills, the negro dockhand.

"I am ready to fight any man in the world," Firpo said today.

It was not expected, however, that Jimmy De Forest, the cunning trainer-manager of the Argentine mauler, would allow his charge to go up against Dempsey, Gibbons or Wills before "Dead Pan Louie" had piled up a row of dollars by appearing against lesser lights in his own native land, where $100 ring-side seats are the order, and the ex-soda jerker the idol of the nation.

Lacks Spectacular

Firpo's showing against the tired old man who sat down to shake his head "No," while 100,000 voices cried, "Go on, Jess," did not raise his stock with the fans.

The battle lacked the spectacular. A clumsy young man and a clumsy old man were the participants. The young man rushed and swung with a peculiar right hand which, in its delivery, had much the same motion as a baseball pitcher's "in drop." The old man, cautious with years, failed to uncover the attack which could have ripped through the feeble guard of his opponent at any time. All Willard showed was a left jab.

Firpo's left hand was so much dead weight at his side, and Willard appeared to forget he had a right.

Financial Success

There was no particularly winning blow of the fight. Three sets of maulings, delivered while the men were in close, took the fight out of Willard.

In the fourth round, the seventh and the eighth, Firpo got Willard in close to the ropes. Then he swung his right and landed in rapid succession on the head and jaw. Twice the punches made Willard groggy. The third set made him sit down.

But, whatever may be said of the fight, it was a success financially. The 100,000 customers who passed through Tex Rickard's turnstiles dropped $500,000 into the till. Rickard himself estimated today, as a corps of accountants labored on an official check.

Willard will take thirty-two per cent of every dollar taken in. Firpo gets twenty-two per cent, about $110,000. Rickard will pocket approximately $120,000.

EAGLE ROCK

PLAYGROUND IS PROVING POPULAR

Children Enjoy Many Sports At Central School, Says Director Stoddard

The playground at Central school is proving very popular with the "young idea," according to Supervisor Stoddard, who states that teachers, handball, baseball, basketball, croquet, swings, checkers, swings and even knitting are being indulged in enthusiastically by the children.

"And if you don't believe it," he challenges the parents, "come over and watch them!"

Mr. Stoddard is an expert in children's work, having been in the employ of the Los Angeles Playground Commission for the past five years, handling children of all ages and classes, from kindergarten to high school and from Wilshire to the "East side."

During the winter months Mr. Stoddard is a teacher in the commercial department of the Pasadena high school, and is also track director, turning out one of the finest track teams last season of any high school in Southern California.

Mrs. S. B. Osborne, chairman of the Parent-Teacher Association committee in charge of playground activities, expressed herself as delighted with the progress being made in supervising the summer-time play of Eagle Rock boys and girls.

Homicide Fired By Thieves
The home of Clarence T. Boylin, 162 Paloma avenue, was robbed on Tuesday night, July 10, and the home of William Farley, of Los Flores and Kenilworth avenues, was fired by thieves on the same night.

In the case of the Boylins, the thieves were evidently frightened away, for upon the return of the family several articles were picked up on the lawn. The loss was negligible.

With the Farleys the matter was more serious. Mr. Farley was out of town and Mrs. Farley, returning from a picture show with her nephew, noticed an undue illumination within the house, which turned out to be a fire.

The blaze was extinguished by friends, however, but not before serious damage had been done. After an examination, the police found that entrance had been made by prying the screen from a side window.

It is believed that the thieves set fire to the home in an attempt to cover their tracks. The entire interior was ruined, including the furniture.

Owing to the extent of the blaze, it is impossible to determine as yet the amount of actual theft. As the house was newly furnished, the loss is heavy.

Sewer Situation
The Chamber of Commerce committee on sewers and sanitation advises, through its chairman, J. C. Clausen, that plans for a complete sewer system for this community are now being prepared by the sewer department of the Los Angeles City Engineer's department, which is good news to residents of Eagle Rock.

Among the local people who attended the annual summer conference of the California synod of the United Presbyterian church at Pacific Palisades last week were Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Kennedy, Miss Isabel Little, Mrs. J. C. Reiter and Mrs. Anna Miller.

ELKS CIRCUS TO FEATURE RODEO

Pasadena Lodge Will Stage Week's Entertainment at Tournament Park

The Pasadena Elks lodge, No. 672, are going to put on the biggest event they have ever undertaken, the entire week of July 16 to 21, inclusive, at Tournament Park, which was the scene of the big football games of the Tournament of Roses for many years past.

C. Hal Reynolds, the exalted ruler, conceived the idea, and Emer Bates is the director in full charge of the affair, assisted by a committee of 100 of Pasadena's most prominent citizens and members of the Elks.

Tournament Park will be transformed into a veritable fairyland with the latest effects in lighting arrangements and strong floodlights will make the heavens present an effect like the Aurora Borealis and a wonderful display of fireworks will take place every night.

The best talent has been obtained for the circus, there being a dog and pony troupe, highly trained horses, trapeze artists, King Tut's harem (a wonderful troupe of girls), clowns and all that goes to make a circus, even including the circus wagons and wild animals.

Big free attractions will be given every night, among a host of which will be Aileen Allen and her diving beauties in diving exhibitions and concerts by the famous Pasadena Elks band under the direction of Prof. J. W. Harrison.

Dancing will take place every night in the big lighted courts, with twelve piece orchestra.

COMMENT That's All

Nice Weather We're Having Easterners Make Money. U. S. Needs Steer Clear. Saturday Big Buying Day.

By Gil A. Cowan

NICE weather. So everyone says, especially the newcomers to Southern California from the east where it has been hot and disagreeable, only to turn cold and wet this season.

A man from Wisconsin declares the people here make much of their climate. But they have a right to. He adds that he never felt better in his 76 years. Nothing like it, we'll admit.

To live here is a privilege, we say, after hearing some of these most recent arrivals compliment the climate. And the way these outsiders go about making money.

Gee, it's a crime, folks. Fellow from Chicago walks in here and cleans up more than $100,000 in less than two years' time. "Nothin' man from Pueblo doubles on $75,000 invested. Fellows from Phoenix are cutting a wide swath in our midst.

Salt Lake capitalists jump in and subdivide more than 1000 acres. An Oakland outfit does likewise. Money from everywhere. People from the same place. And here we sit on top of the world of opportunity without doing a "damn" thing.

Every day we see bargains advertised in the classified columns of The Glendale Evening News. Real estate buys that someone from Oshkosh or Kalamazoo comes along and grabs off while we are writing this column.

We tell about 'em coming here, report their doings, boost their game and enjoy a good business, but, as far as the long green goes—well, that's another story.

What we need to do is to go back east for a few years. Get a different vision and return here and jump into the field here fresh from the "grass roots," as Sam Davis might say.

Frankly stated, we must compliment our eastern friends who come here and invest their money in Glendale. It has grown beyond their expectations. And certainly there are many who have hung around for ten years dodging Old Man Opportunity.

It isn't too late, however, and we advise those who are eager to get along in this old world to tag at the coattails of their eastern cousins, playing their "hunches" which seem to be "sure things" in most every instance.

Premier Baldwin has said in effect that France is wrong in seizing the Ruhr. Maybe so, but we cannot see where that betters the situation. After reading his speech yesterday we can only see more reasons for the United States remaining clear of the European mess.

A decadent aristocracy, a lusty bolshevism, a militaristic array, not to mention an utterly impossible economic situation, all mixed in together, is a nice can of dynamite for Americans to laze "hands off" from altruistic endeavor.

President Wilson tried to do the old world some good. He got shoved into the corner for his efforts. President Harding also has ideas which will be remodeled by Britain before they are put in effect. So it is much better for the United States to take the role of an umpire, a free agent, in foreign affairs, for any alliance at the present hour is bound to react.

The United States should clear the decks, put its own house in order, make this nation a recognized world leader and then it will be in a position to dictate after the crash of one government or another in Europe.

Russia and Germany cannot hold their own much longer. Austria must be revived by its own efforts. Italy is a political Vesuvius. The day of kings and nobility in Britain is fast passing. France knows not the course it pursues in driving Germany to destruction and the latter country still is the wolf in sheep's clothing.

Hatred and distrust, today as ever, are found among the nations of the world. The United States, despised as it may be for demanding payment of war loans, is alone holding its own in progress and prosperity. Why should we become a part of a structure, now court or otherwise, built of crumbling clay?

It is a question every thinking American has a right to ask.

What a whale of a shopping day Glendale merchants had last Saturday. It is the one great day of the week when every store is caring for capacity trade. From early Saturday morning until 9 o'clock at night the crowd keeps coming in waves, for that is the day when Los Angeles workers residing here have an opportunity to trade. And they are learning that Glendale merchants give them better goods at equally as low, if not lower prices, because there is less overhead here.

Glendale needs this trade. It should cultivate Saturday shopping to the nth degree. The advertisements in tonight's edition of The Glendale Evening News will tell you where you can buy most economically.

BURBANK MUSICIANS HOLD BAND REHEARSAL

Leader Wants to Hear From Women Who Can Play Brass Instruments

The first practice of the new Burbank band was held last night, at the city hall, with a large and enthusiastic group of candidates present and halls that had rung with oratory resounded with melody.

H. S. White, director, brought harmony out of the chaos of cornet, trombone, clarinet and saxophone; and E. J. Jackson, president of the organization, expressed himself as very much gratified over the showing.

F. R. Losee, secretary-treasurer, says he wants to get in touch with additional musicians, particularly women with proclivities toward brass instruments.

"We aren't making any promises yet as to how good a band we'll have," says Mr. White, "but we have our own opinions—and they all agree."

Local Body to Form
Tonight at 8 o'clock, in the city hall, a local chapter of the National Merchants' Credit association will be formed.

Among those present for the purpose of helping in the organization of the new body will be Frank Pilling, secretary of the Glendale chapter. A. J. Aughinbach, state organizer, will also be present, and will conduct the meeting.

It is proposed, should as many as thirty local merchants affiliate with the association, to maintain an office. But the organization will be formed, regardless of whether as many as thirty join, in which latter case the business will be conducted from the Glendale office, 150 South Brand boulevard.

The chief purpose of the organization, as stated by leading merchants interested, is not to maintain prices, but to establish a basis for credit information.

A complete filing system is maintained in any office of the body, where information may be obtained at short notice.

The idea has the endorsement of Secretary Colburn of the Chamber of Commerce, who believes it will be of great value to local merchants.

Pilgrimage Play Night
On the night of Wednesday, July 18, Burbank will visit the Hollywood Pilgrimage play in force, as Secretary Colburn of the Chamber of Commerce has taken fifty of the medium-priced tickets, which may be had at the Wilson & Welch drug store, where the plan of the house is on view.

The Pilgrimage play, while not an imitation, is said to be similar to the famous Oberammergau. It is essentially a church play, religious in theme and treatment, and it is likely that many of the tickets will be taken by church members.

In the cast this season the play names clergyman, William C. Isett, a well-known reverend, who takes the part of one of the disciples.

Boy's Joke Cause of N. P. Railroad Wreck

BUTTE, Mont., July 13.—"Just for fun" 11-year-old Arthur McArthur of Whitehall, broke open the switch lock at Blackstone spur, thirty-five miles east of Butte, causing the wrecking of westbound Burlington No. 41 on the Northern Pacific, in which four persons were killed, and many injured late Tuesday. He confessed, according to County Attorney Hard Johnson and railway officials.

He was "sorry," he told railway men who obtained a confession from him last night.

The only charge which can be brought against the boy so far as is known, is one of incorrigibility, according to County Attorney Johnson. While fined at serious older person, he stated that he did not believe the little chap realized the seriousness of his act in throwing open the switches at Blackstone spur.

Ball Player Withdraws Charge of Dishonesty

CHICAGO, July 13.—Mike J. Kelly, manager of the St. Paul club of the American association, who was suspended by President Thomas J. Hickey after he had been charged with accusing the latter of dishonesty, yesterday in a formal letter to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis disavowed any intention of charging Hickey with dishonesty.

Following the receipt of the letter by Judge Landis, Mr. Hickey announced that he accepted Kelly's apology and would reinstate him today as manager of the St. Paul club.

Minnesota Is Aroused Over Senate Election

ST. PAUL, July 13.—With the apathy which existed at the primary lifted, Minnesota today is in the midst of one of the hottest political races of recent years, the stakes being the seat in the United States senate left vacant by the death of the late Knute Nelson. The election Monday, in spite of the fact it is a special election, will bring out a vote well up to normal, political party leaders predicted this morning.

Paris has 19,000 motorcycles.
